Manufacturing process

Millions of years reproduced in a few hours

COMPOSITION

A FINE,
HIGHLY COMPACTED
HOMOGENEOUS MIX

Manufactured with a combination of highly compacted, low-particle powder minerals, its composition and manufacturing process provides the slabs with high resistance and very low porosity.

Its composition includes:

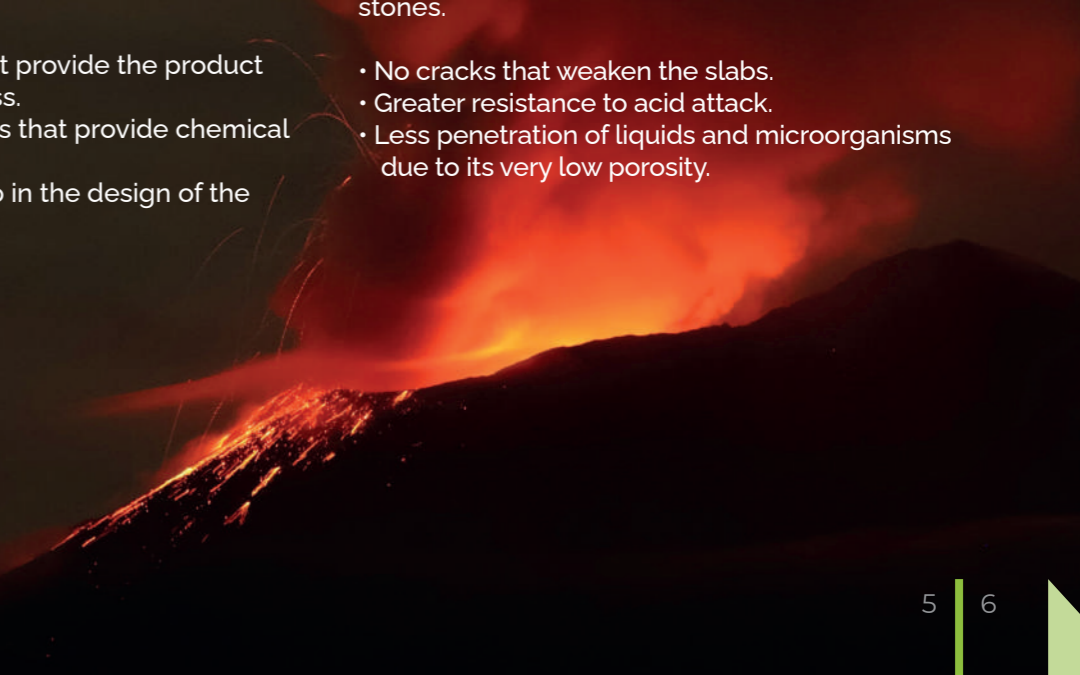

- Quartz and feldspar that provide the product resistance and hardness.
- Glass and silica minerals that provide chemical stability.
- Natural oxides that help in the design of the product.

RESISTANCE

A HARDNESS
THAT GOES BEYOND
THE NATURAL

The homogeneous and controlled combination of minerals together with compaction at high pressures and temperatures results in a product with mechanical and chemical characteristics far superior to those of natural stones.

- No cracks that weaken the slabs.
- Greater resistance to acid attack.
- Less penetration of liquids and microorganisms due to its very low porosity.

PROFITABILITY IN YOUR PROJECTS

Unlike natural stone slabs, you will save problems when installing them in any of your projects, having the guarantee that the design of each plate will fit with the next, reducing installation times. No need for last minute adjustments.
