SUSTAINABILITY

WE DESIGN THE FUTURE WITH CONCRETE ACTION

We look to tomorrow and we do so with concrete initiatives, such as our substantial investment plan in new plants and machinery to support both an increase in production as well as an improvement in environmental performance levels. An example of this is the renovation and expansion of the photovoltaic system in Fiorano. Thanks to this expansion, Laminam, manufacturer of Automobili Lamborghini Surfaces, is now in a position, during daytime hours, to meet the energy needs of its three electric kilns – the only one to have them in the ceramic district – entirely with solar power.

The constant improvement of our emissions profile is an objective we pursue with the utmost resolve. Since 2020, we have invested in the pursuit of the most performing filtering masses, choosing the best activated carbons available on the market, which allow us to have a working innovative system through thermal abatement, which harnesses the action of these special systems.

What makes our systems especially sustainable is the possibility of regenerating most carbon: once used, part of the carbon is processed by a specialised company so it can resume its role as filtering mass.

This leads to a system of emissions abatement which does not produce any further CO₂ nor additional pollutants.
